You've Tried the Rest...Now Try the Best

Bob Morris is THE main man behind Morris Manufacturing and he is the original creator of the 4" wide Powerbelt! Bob's Belts (www.bobsbelts.com) located in Pahrump, Nevada is not only the pioneer of the "Powerbelt," but more extraordinarily, Bob has been hand-making these customizable weight lifting belts (or works of art) for over 35 years! At some point in your life you've probably tried one of those other inferior mass produced flimsy training belts. Chances are they certainly didn't fit you well, and were not built with the proper materials to really give you the support you required to make those big lifts safely. When you purchase a belt from Bob's Belts, I can assure you that will never happen. That's because their web site is going to tell you specifically how to measure your waist size as well as select a belt for the type of lifting you perform. You'll also notice preferences regarding single or double buckle, what style of belt will suit your needs, and color and personalization options. If unsure about any part of the ordering process, simply give them a call at (775) 209-2847. They do this all the time!

The Pioneers of The Power Belt

Bob's Belts - Made in the Good Ol' USA

All belts are “Made in the USA” by Bob from the highest quality leathers, hand made buckles and nylon stitching. In fact, the single prong buckle design in my gorgeous Royal Blue Beast belt is made from seamless stainless steel so even the moving roller will not rust. The Beast belt is 5 inches wide and is ½ thick and Bob uses really tough and durable high quality nylon stitching throughout the belt—it's guaranteed not to fray. The leather used is all Bull Hide with superior suede finishes (I just said Bull in a sentence without being derogatory). If you think you can't afford to own one, think again...most belts are very reasonably priced ranging from about $99 to about $129. Even with all the custom work I had done on my belt, the total was under $150. Your biggest decision will be deciding amongst the plethora of color choices. By the way, the 2-tone and 3-tone color belts are totally hot!

The World's Finest Weight Lifting Belts

I should mention that Bob was a big time competitive Powerlifter in his hey day and knows exactly what you're looking for in a belt...which is precisely why he started Bob's Belts! When you visit www.bobbelts.com and click on the “Power Belts” category at top, you will begin to understand why there are so many belt choices due to different types of weight training exercises, and support activities for which you may need a belt. You'll even find specialty belts for benching, squatting and deadlifting (deadlifting: is that something we bodybuilders are supposed to be doing?). If you are a serious powerlifter, make sure to inquire about their expert competition belts. By the way, Bob told me their best seller is the Original 4” Powerbelt.

The Muscleman of Technology Meets The Beast

When you first take your belt out of the box, your nose falls in love with that fresh new leather smell—then your eyes behold your beautiful new belt. I couldn't stop looking up and down, inside and out, at the stitching and thick beefy high quality materials. The elegant custom embroidery work done on my Beast belt is legendary—take a look at the picture below to see how Bob stitched my MrBicep web site directly into the back of the belt! They will do just about anything you want including names, initials, designs and logos. Before you start using your new belt, just like a new leather baseball glove, it will require a brief break-in period. I could barely get my Beast into the second notch as the thick leather is so stiff. About a month later, I can now easily go to the 4th and 5th hole.
